UK, EU OR INTERNATIONAL STUDENT DEFINITIONS

HOME (UK) STUDENTS

To be considered as a home (UK) student you normally need to meet all the following criteria on the first day of the first academic year of the course:

- You are settled in the UK (this means there is no immigration restriction on the length of your stay)
- You are ordinarily resident in the UK and have been for the full three years before the first day of the academic year. Ordinarily resident means that your main home is in the UK, and you are choosing to live in the UK.
- The main reason for you being in the UK was not to receive full-time education.

HOME (EU) STUDENTS

You will be considered as a home (EU) student if, on the first day of the first academic year of your course:

- You are an EU national, or the relevant family member of a non-UK EU national, who is in the UK as a self-sufficient person or as a student, or the relevant family member of a UK national.
- You must have been ordinarily resident in the European Economic Area and/or Switzerland and/or the overseas territories for the three years before the first day of the first academic year of the course.
- For students who are non-native English speakers an additional English Language test will be required for entry, and this will determine whether the Intensive English support classes are required. This is at the sole discretion of the Academic Support Department.

INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS

If you do not fall under the home (UK) or home (EU) fee definitions, then you will be considered as an international student.

For students who are non-native English speakers an additional English Language test will be required for entry, and this will determine whether the Intensive English support classes are required. This is at the sole discretion of the Academic Support Department. The length of the support will vary according to the level of English of the Student and the courses of study.
